Musical Director:

Killorglin man, Myles Coffey yet again fills the role of Musical Director with his usual expertise. A vocational teacher in Cahirciveen, Myles is a polished singer and entertainer, Myles has been with the group since 1968 and his accompaniment to choruses and solo singers has contributed in no small way to the success of recent pantomimes.

Frank Lambe plays the piano, as in former years, with much flair and polish.

Gene O'Connor from Castleisland once again acts as our "skinsman" on the drums. Nice to have you with us Gene.

Liam Foley's expertise on the violin has been widely acclaimed and its a pleasure to have him with us again this year.

THE PLAYERS:

Gearoid O'Sullivan: Panto would not be panto without 'Gearoid and Patsy' - Kerry's funniest comedy duo. Killorglin born and 'bread'.
10th Panto.

Patsy Cronin: The other half! Great comic, great singer, great dancer. I.T.G.W.U. Official.
11th Panto.

Liam Shannon: Works in Liebherr Ltd. Brings delight to all with his great singing voice; courts the 'dame' magnificently in this his 6th Panto.

Declan Mangan: Teacher. Such a wide and capable talent cannot be described - whether it is in singing, dancing, talking or 'courting' the judge. The only member of tonights cast who has appeared in all the pantomimes to date.

Jerome Conway: Teacher. Plays 'Seamus' with great talent and gets his reward after much travelling.
4th Panto.

Marian Dwyer: Employee of Paul Wenzel Ltd. Makes a very lively cat - makes a new comedienne for Killorglin.
4th Panto.

Brendan Crowley: Bank of Ireland man striving for new heights as he tries to climb the Himalayas; definitely shows the height of his acting ability in his 3rd Panto.

Mary Crowley: 2nd Panto.

Moves up from the back row of the chorus to play an English gentleman.

Tom Curtayne: Who else could play the part of the 'Ogre' so well. Will definitely strike a chord of fear in even the stoutest heart tonight.
8th Panto.

John Evans: Returns from England to play the part of a well trained butler. After his performance as a delightful 'susie' in last years panto he now shows that his talent is diverse.
2nd Panto.

Aine Ní Dhabhoráin: Teacher from Moycullen, Co. Galway. Very interested in Irish drama but now shows that she is also very interested in 'Pog'.
1st Panto.

Mary Bird: Teacher from Trim, Co. Meath. Tonight she catches the eye of 'Nog'.
1st Panto.

Eileen Cashell: Bank of Ireland employee from Kilflynn, she again makes a delightful leading lady but has a few worrying moments before she gets her 'prince'.
3rd Panto.

Myles O'Brien: Has already proved that he has a magnificent singing voice. Does a great job as the Marquis of Carabas.
2nd Panto.

Eileen Hayes: Returns to stage after not playing a leading role since the 1st pantomime, teacher, plays a beautiful Marchioness.
3rd Panto.

Brian McCarthy: Allied Irish Bank employee. Moves from being 'little John' last year to playing a very formidable and talkative Indian Chief this year. 3rd Panto.

Eamonn Crowley: Proves his linguistic ability by being the interpreter for the Indian Chief. Makes a very efficient quizmaster in a game between life and death. 5th Panto.

Domnic Coffey: No pantomime could be run without a stage manager - and we have the best in Domnic who proves again this year how efficient and capable he is - many thanks, Domnic, for all the hard work.
